"THE BUTTERFLY GIRL" AT PLEASE U TODAY

Have you ever met a butterfly girl? One who has the soul of a butterfly; one who preens her wings of beauty and color; one who flits from one man's admiration to another?

Meet Edith Folsom, Butterfly Girl extraordinary! She was not a home-wrecker or heart-breaker—just a girl reared in the lap of luxury—fascinatingly charming, with a way to turn men's heads. Did she sing her wings, or did her real womanhood assert itself to dethrone the selfishness that ruled her?

See Marjorie Daw, the youthful champion, in this delightful, romantic drama, "The Butterfly Girl". See the gorgeous gowns she wears. See society life as it is lived by the modern girl and youth. See a play that lifts the veil from girlish fancy and pride, and unmask the foolishness of the butterfly life.

Jewish Rabbi First Witness for Defense

Mr. Cohen of the LaRose department store, who was asked by the court to act as interpreter in the case with witnesses when necessary would accept no payment for services but offered whatever was his due for a Christmas present to any poor people in town. Mr. Cohen performed a most difficult task most acceptably to all concerned and at a time when the rush of Christmas business at his store might well demand his undivided attention.

The case will be completed Friday afternoon before sunset.

When the court takes a recess it will be until 9 o'clock Tuesday, Jan. 17.

No Trespass or Injury

The owner of an estate on which there was a lake was annoyed to see a stranger fishing on his grounds. He approached the trespasser and began to abuse him. "This lake" he said, "is privately owned, and I stocked it myself. You must go away at once." "Just a minute sir," said the fisherman calmly. "What did you stock the lake with?" "Trout," was the answer. "And I won't have—" "That's all right, sir," said the trespasser unconcernedly; "I'm fishing for pike."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.
